Whiskerino Sign-up Begins Today In Publications Office

Coward Comedy Tryouts Held At 4:00 Today

Noel Coward's sparkling style is at its best in "Hay Fever", a rapidly-moving, drawing room comedy, second of the San Jose Players spring productions, for which tryouts are scheduled at 4 o'clock today in Room 53, according to Hugh Gillis, Speech department head and director of the play.

COUNTRY SETTING

The main part of the story takes place in the country home of the Blissies, a family of artistically-tempered individuals whose moods and actions are unpredictable.

Each member of the family asks a guest for the week-end which makes for a crowded party, as well as many amusing situations. The controversy as to whom shall be put in what room, and the general confusion of all the guests, livened more by Coward's incomparable dialogue, promises to make this farce one of the most effective comedy presentations of the entire season.

INTIMATE PRESENTATION

The play will be made even more interesting by the novel form of production to be used. It will be presented in the Student Union on May 9 and 10 in the form of an intimate theatrical, which means that the audience will sit around the stage and view the play from all four sides.

The cast will be headed by three faculty members, but Mr. Gillis emphasizes that there are several excellent parts for students. Books may still be obtained in the reserve library.

Tau Delts Challenge All-Comers; Electric Razor Is Grand Prize

Prospective San Jose State college whisker-growing males begin the sign-up this morning in the Spartan Daily office for the annual Whiskerino which starts Monday. The registration will continue through Friday, according to Bob Payne, general Spardi Gras chairman.

Lasting for three weeks, until May 3, when the judging will take place in the main quad in the midst of Spardi Gras concessions, the contest promises to call forth the best efforts of the hairiest men students on the campus, in the opinion of those in charge of the contest.

Junior Election Meeting At Noon Tomorrow

The junior class will hold its first meeting of the spring quarter for the purpose of discussing Sneak Week activities and completing class elections, tomorrow at 12 o'clock in the Little Theater.

Run-off elections will be for vice-president, with Conrad Lacy and George Jorgenson vying for the post, and for sergeant-at-arms between Frank Bonanno and Ted Wilson.

Final preparations for Sneak Week festivities will be discussed by President Al Alton. All juniors are requested to attend the meeting and take an active part in Sneak Week plans.

Radio Group Asks Applicants To Sign Entry Blanks

All students who wish to enter the tryouts for the Radio Speaking society given tomorrow are urged to get their application blanks from the Speech office as soon as possible by Don Pedrazzini, president of the club.

Entry blanks must be filled out and turned in to the Speech secretary before noon tomorrow. Tryouts will be held in the society's clubroom below the Little Theater from 4 to 6 o'clock under the direction of the present members of the group.

Grace Markey was chosen treasurer of the Radio Speaking society at the club's first meeting of this quarter held last week. Lowell Heath was appointed director of the group's first radio play this quarter, and plans were announced to have the well-known radio "Night Editor", Hal Burdick, as guest at a meeting of the society in the near future, according to Pedrazzini.

Tau Delts Plan Night Nomination Meeting

Tau Delta Phi, men's honorary scholastic fraternity, will consider nomination of neophytes at their evening meeting tomorrow night commencing at 5:30.

Grand Magistrate Barney Murphy announces that a dinner will precede the business session.

Councilmen Accept Plan Presented By Committee

Listing four recommendations which it believes will eliminate further investigations and current misunderstandings regarding the Co-operative store, the student investigation committee, appointed at the winter quarter organization dinner, last night released its report to the student council meeting in the Student Union.

RECOMMENDATIONS MADE

The recommendations, accepted in their entirety by the council were:

1. That the name "Co-operative Store" be discontinued and that next year to use a name that will not confuse the students as to the store's true nature.
2. That a history of the Co-operative store and its purposes be printed in next year's Student Directory to clear up many misunderstandings in the students' minds.
3. That the same type of information as in the foregoing recommendation be printed in the 1941-1942 San Jose State College Bulletin.
4. That this report be printed in full in the Spartan Daily.

Headed by Chairman Verne Williams who said that the committee found no indications that any profits from the store were not being used for the benefit of the student body, the investigators reported that profits, were going to liquidate an indebtedness, originally around $14,000, incurred in renovating the building when the present store was moved from the old building in the east quad to the bottom floor of the Student Union building.

PROFITS LIQUIDATE DEBT

Part of the profits, said to be substantial, are also going into the store's operating fund, the committee said. With the indebtedness expected to be paid off within one

Afternoon Dance Friday At 4 In Men's Gym

San Jose State dance enthusiasts will dance to the music of Johnny Cooper's newly-formed swing band on Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 in the Men's gym, when the Social Affairs committee puts on the first affair of the spring quarter.

10-CENT CHARGE

According to Walt Curry, chairman for this dance, there will be a 10-cent admission charge with the welcome sign being put out for stags. No outsiders will be admitted to the affair.

This will be a new attempt to hold future afternoon dances in the large Men's gym, stated Social Affairs Chairman Don Anderson. "If enough students are interested more such dances will be held this quarter."

KIDWELL SINGS

Highlighting the dance will be the singing of Bill Kidwell, who will sing the lyrics to some of the new Spartan Revelries songs.

Door prizes donated by the Co-op Book store and the California Book store will be offered during the hop.

Hawaiians Write Original Song For Spartan Revelries

Hawaiians of San Jose State college will add their talents to the roster already lined up for the 1940 Spartan Revelries when they present a song entitled, "My Haole Wahine", written by George Bartels, a member of the college Hawaiian club.

The number, title of which can be translated "my white girl", will be sung by an Hawaiian chorus and will feature hula dances by Helen Booth, Marylou Somerville, and Lelani Kekuku, Music Director Sheldon Taix announced yesterday.

These students will join with all other participants in the show in the first big rehearsal next Tuesday evening, in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

This year's performance will be given on two successive evenings in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

DAY EDITOR, This Issue.....VANCE PERRY

Specialization On Trial . . .

These are days of increasing specialization. Industry and business demand more highly trained men than ever before, and this trend has carried over into the mind of the college student.

Because of this, most students specialize too much. Due to the uncertainty, insecurity, and scarcity of jobs, this specialization is unsound in spite of the trend toward specialization. Many fields, as it is, retrain their men after they are employed. One exception to this is the teaching field, yet here, too, the students who get the jobs are the students who have the largest number of credentials, and therefore the widest background.

Even when one has a job on graduation pretty well cinched, to spend four years or more in training for this field with a background in no other field is a foolish policy because of the state of ours, and other economies; and because of our continual technological advance.

Part of this specialization is due to the school system itself. The demands of a major leave very little chance for one to gain a background in even one other field. As it is now, though, many students switch their objectives as many as three or four times. This makes for a waste of time and a confusion which discourages the student as his objective fades further into the future.

A solution to this would be not to allow students to choose their objectives in school until after one year of general courses or as many as two years of general training. As most objectives demand some of the same required courses, it would not be a difficult change. In fact, in most cases a saving of time would result in addition to the concentration of purpose of a student who would be allowed some time for deliberation and selecting the best major.

The double advantage of this system would be to allow a student to obtain somewhat of a general background in several fields before choosing a field to concentrate in, and prevent him from the folly of too much specialization.

—Wold.

The Underlying Reason . . .

Campus grid fans are somewhat peeved over the slim diet of home football games that are on the menu for next season, but there are a few underlying facts that should be looked into before criticizing the present schedule.

The chief source of irritation to local football enthusiasts is the fact that San Jose will meet one of their arch-rivals, Fresno, in the "Raisin City". When San Jose renewed grid relations with Fresno last year, it was taken for granted that the two teams would meet on a home-and-home basis, with the Bulldogs scheduled to play here in 1940.

In the meantime a certain condition has arisen to change this plan. With College of Pacific playing here November 8 and Fresno on the schedule November 16, it would be a poor financial move to have these two major clashes held here within such a short period of time. Having both these games played here on successive week-ends would in all probability result in a split gate, while shifting one of them out of town will mean a capacity crowd for both contests.

By BILL RODRICK

With the announcement of the date of Winkelman's "Football Clinic" it comes to our attention that two of the quarter's events most likely to attract the interest of the greatest number of students, the clinic and Spardi Gras, will fall on the same date—May 3.

It would, it seems, top off an afternoon of hot and heavy Spardi Gras festivity nicely to spend an evening in the cool of the stadium watching somebody else exercise, but on the night of May 3, we also have the Spartan Revelries, and following that, the annual dance, both integral parts of Spardi Gras, and tradition demands that every student able to walk should attend these events.

A great number of students would be interested in attending the "Football Clinic", but at the same time, attendance there would prohibit attendance at the Revelries, and possibly at the balance of the Spardi Gras dance. There will be a conflict which will hurt business at both events, but since the Revelries profits are supposed to go into the worthy cause of new band uniforms, they will be hurt the most.

Ordinarily, the only work-out the football team gets on Spardi Gras day is at the annual game held on the San Carlos street field, and we don't doubt that the players would appreciate the rest of the biggest day of the year off. If the team does Spardi Gras in the traditional style, how will they look before the public with the gullet generously filled with the delicacies of the day—coke, hot-dogs, ice-cream bars, etc.

At this time, it would be nearly impossible to change the Spardi Gras date, but a change from one side or the other seems to be in order—we hope the Athletic department will agree.

THINKING IT OVER

By Gardner Waters

In last Monday's metropolitan dailies appeared articles dealing with the visit to the United States of Elsa Pehrson, one of Sweden's leading journalists.

Said the woman journalist of her country: Complete unionization was accomplished relatively painlessly some 30 years ago. Arbitration of labor disputes became compulsory in 1928. Unemployment and illiteracy are practically unknown. Crime is so infrequent that many prisons have been closed for lack of prisoners.

Education, including the higher forms, is completely free. Socialized medicine is an accomplished fact and is operating successfully. Social diseases have largely disappeared due to stringent laws instituted more than ten years ago.

This column had intended to comment upon this rather obvious lesson Sweden presents to the United States. After yesterday's invasion of Scandinavia, however, the Swedish journalist's statement has even greater significance for us.

Apparently more and more European nations are going to be swept into the war. If the Allies are to win they will have to call upon all the support they can muster. This means that sooner or later the pressure upon this country will greatly increase.

If we value what goes by the rather vague term of American ideals, we shall have to take a long range view in spite of this pressure. Would we be doing ourselves, and the world, too, the most good by jumping into the war? Or would we do better to improve our own social organization, stay out of active participation in the war, and strive for those values and social structures which Sweden today possesses to a greater extent than we, but which she is in serious danger of losing?

It seems quite apparent that the longer the war continues, the greater will be the subsequent collapse in Europe. Can we not do ourselves and those other nations the most good by conserving our political and economic strength so as to aid in future rehabilitation of the world?

It 'Lukes' From Here

By PAUL LUKES

The other morning we heard an analysis of the background reasons why teachers have to clean their own blackboards.

Our analyzer stepped from behind a cloud of chalk dust that rose as the result of his labors and stepped to the front of the platform. After inviting our cooperation, he spoke to this effect:

"An analysis of the reasons why teachers have to wear themselves out cleaning the blackboards each morning brings us to the conclusion that the reasons are economic."

"The state has not enough money to make a larger appropriation to the college, consequently the school hasn't enough money to hire sufficient janitors, with the result that the janitors on the job haven't enough time to clean blackboards."

Quite true we say, but we can remember a time when the teachers didn't have to clean the blackboards because the students did the work for them.

Why this change? Is it because students regard work as a form of apple polishing quite beneath them, preferring perhaps to polish the apple with words and hot air? Or is it because the average college student finds manual labor that might wrinkle his white collar beneath the dignity of his ambitions?

Young American with the ambition to acquire a college education, seems to regard education as something that will show him how to use his superior mental ability in such a way that graduation from college will be only the last step in the process of sliding his legs under a desk with a row of push buttons and three telephones.

THE STATE OF THINGS

By VANCE PERRY

While the San Jose State college band is admittedly one of the best playing college bands on the coast, it is at the same time one of the worst uniformed bands. It suffers in comparison with almost any group which it plays.

It is acknowledged that sufficient money to re-outfit the band will never be available through student body funds. It must come from benefit programs arranged by students and faculty of the college who are interested in seeing a smart looking group representing the college at football games and rallies.

A start was made in this direction when the proceeds of the Inter-Society and Inter-Fraternity dance were given to start a fund for the purpose. The profits from the Revelries will also go into that bank account.

But it will take from $2000 to $4000 to do the job, and even the sizeable profits which will accrue from the Revelries will be but a fraction of the amount needed. Here is wide-open opportunity for organizations which are looking around for something to do to render a real and lasting service to the college.

Hitler's invasion of Denmark and Norway seems to be meeting with little resistance at the time of this writing. The German army, whose attack was wholly unexpected, encountered no difficulty in subduing Denmark, and at present seems to be having little trouble against the Norwegians, who have elected to fight. The subjugation of Norway brings Germany within 250 miles of the British naval base at Scapa Flow where the British fleet is hiding out. The distance from Sylt, the base of previous air expeditions to the British coast to Scapa Flow is approximately 450 miles.

The result of Germany's conquest is that Hitler's air fleet is now in a much better position as far as bombing Scapa Flow is concerned. Flying time to the British naval base can be cut to less than an hour. There is a possibility, when one compares Hitler's other exploits, that friend Adolph will try an invasion of the Scottish coast. This is not too far out of the range of possibility. It is farther from Germany to Norway than it is from Norway to Scotland.

Meanwhile, there are reports that Germany has sent ultimatums to the several Danubian states, demanding the right to police the river to its mouth in order to insure German shipments of oil and other necessary war materials. Belgrade reports that these ultimatums have been rejected. There is a grave possibility that Hitler's blitzkriegers may decide to blitzkrieg in the Balkans.

Vin Ruble Runs 4:25 Mile In Time Trial

JOHN PEEK
TIMED 15.8
IN 120 HIGH
HURDLE TRIAL

Little Vin Ruble began his 1940 campaign to make Spartan track followers forget the performances of Joe McNabb, last year's ace distance man, when he ran the mile in the excellent time of 4:25 in a time trial last night.

RAN HALF IN 1:57
Ruble, who was paced by four members, turned in his second outstanding mark of the week in the entire varsity squad worked at preparing for the Fresno State Saturday afternoon. Monday afternoon Ruble scampered over the half mile course in 1:57 flat to break the former school record of 1:57.5.

John Peek, former Fullerton college all-around performer, pressed over a flight of 120-yard hurdles in the fine early season time of 15.8. Peek, who last year was the nation's number one junior broad jumper, is planning to enter both hurdle races in addition to his pet event, the broad jump, in the Bulldog clash.

SUNZERI LOOKS GOOD
Tony Sunzeri, preparing for his title with Bob Hoffman, Fresno state vaulter, cleared 13 feet several times and did not try to go higher. Sunzeri is improving with each jump and may crack the school vault record in Saturday's meet.

Bob Woods, Redding distance runner, ran a 2:04 half mile, while Dave Siemon, ex-Fullerton J.C., captured a 100-yard trial in 12.2. John Sidell paced the Spartan quarter milers in a 50.3 race in Monday afternoon's session.

This afternoon Coach Hartnraft will run his squad through easy workouts with time trials again scheduled for Thursday.

GOLFERS MEET DONS TODAY

Twenty-five straight will be the work the San Jose State golf team will be shooting at when they match scores with the University of San Francisco at the San Jose Country club this afternoon at one o'clock.

Scheduled as a conference match, the Spartan six-man team led by Captain Warner Keeley is expected to have real competition from the Dons who have several city champions on their roster and have given the Spartans their toughest assignments for the last three years.

Grid Coaches Plan Alumni Game

With plans for an alumni game in the near future, Coaches Ben Winkelman and "Pop" Warner continue to oil up their grid machine with stiff daily drills and plays.

Winkelman plans to hold a game with the alumni soon, but is undetermined as to the date because of his public "clinic" which will open May 3.

With "Truck" Tornell, converted tackle, going "great guns" at his new fullback position, Winkelman has shifted him to backing up the line. In the former system, the quarterback carried the load of the fullback at line backing. Tornell hits the line with more power than the former Spartan fullbacks, Perego and Zimmerman, but lacks the kicking and passing accuracy that the others possessed.

Bud Nygrin, Minnesota transfer, looks the best backfield man on the field so far, with George Wagner from Long Beach being a definite threat for the signal calling spot.

Coach Dee Portal has returned to the grid field to bolster the Spartan coaching staff. Coach Walt McPherson is still out with the baseball team, but will return as soon as the San Jose nine completes its season.

With players in good condition, Winkelman and Warner plan to hold short scrimmages daily.

The new grid coach plans to have Track Coach "Tiny" Hartnraft, give a talk on the techniques of running at the session of spring practice today.

FROSH ONLY HOPE FOR PAAU TITLE

Coach Eugene Grattan's hopes for another PAAU, Northern California and Nevada championship wrestling team, rest on his freshman squad Friday and Saturday nights at the San Francisco YMCA, as the injury jinx again hit the hapless varsity.

GORIN, LACY OUT

Vic Gorin, newly-crowned 155-pound Pacific Coast Intercollegiate champion, is the latest casualty out with a wrenched back. Con Lacy, 121-pound Intercollegiate champion, will also pass up the tournament due to an old elbow injury. Of the three coast champions, Captain Fortune Masdeo will be the only one to compete in the tournament.

The San Jose freshmen are the defending PAA champions, nosing out the varsity 23 to 21 in 1938. The tourney was passed up last year due to the National AAU being held on Treasure Island.

HINES ENTERED

Frosh Captain Dave Hines, undefeated in collegiate competition this year, is expected to lead the Spartan entries at 155-pounds. Mel Bruno is defending champion, but with Bruno out with a broken arm, Hines is expected to finish in the money.

George Yoshisato, at 118-pounds, Alvin Duty at 123, and Mike Bertolia at 145, are expected to be outstanding for the freshmen.

Bowers Elected

Charlie Bowers, freshman from South Gate high school, was elected captain of the frosh track squad by team members last night. Bowers, who runs both the mile and two-mile for the yearlings, is the hardest worker on the squad. He also competed on the cross country squad earlier in the year.

YEARLING NINE WINS EIGHTH STRAIGHT TILT

The frosh baseball team rang up its eighth consecutive win at the expense of Washington high from Centerville yesterday afternoon at Spartan field. Score was 8-7.

Lucente and Rich, frosh hurlers, were touched for six hits, while their mates were collecting eight.

Three errors and a walk produced two unearned runs for the yearlings in the first inning, allowing Taylor and Martinez to score. Sal Toramina's home run, two more errors, and Taylor's hit scoring Bennett produced two more San Jose runs in the second. Hits by Lucente, Bennett and Nell produced still two more in the fourth.

With Centerville leading 7-6 going into the last inning, Abbe opened with a single and scored on Pete Filice's pinch-hitting triple to right. Filice scored the winning run a moment later as Diederichsen grounded out.

Today the frosh play Santa Clara high on the latter's diamond at 3:15.

SPORTS HEALEY-O-SCOPE

By JOHN HEALEY

It seems that some people were quite amused with the proposal of adding crew to the Spartan sports program!

BATH TUBS AND FISH PONDS have been proposed as a possible place for crew members to work out!

Back in the mid-west the lack of water is a minor thing as far as having a crew team goes. Some small college in the mid-west was granted permission by the government to use one of their large bulk grain warehouses. The crew team placed their shell in the warehouse and proceeded to workout on grain! It was not as good as having water, but water was a minor thing to that institution.

They more than likely use their bath tubs to a better advantage!

We see where Leroy Zimmerman, star Spartan fullback last year, has signed his contract with the Washington Redskins. Also the former San Jose grid star has filed claims with the state industrial accident commission in hopes of receiving compensation for injuries received in the professional game held February 11 between Kenny Washington's All-Stars and Ernie Nevers' Professionals.

STUDENTS EXPRESS RADIO PREFERENCE

Listeners Feel College Credit Should Be Given, Survey Shows

By IRENE MELTON

Although the average San Jose State college student has, as a rule, considerable time to listen to the radio, 98 per cent would listen to more programs if they had more time.

This was shown in a radio program survey conducted in two English classes last quarter, in which 64 per cent of those interviewed said they had time for radio-listening.

COLLEGE CREDIT

More than half of those questioned felt that college credit should be arranged for some programs; while the same percentage answered that the programs had stimulated them to more reading.

Used in the survey were mimeographed copies of radio programs selected on the basis of their contribution to cultural appreciation, copies on which students were asked to mark programs which they found profitable.

Results show that a list of what are, from the students' standpoint, the most profitable radio offerings should include the Great Plays broadcast, the Philharmonic Symphony, and the Ford Sunday Evening Hour on Sunday; the Lux Radio Theater and "Dr. I.Q." on Monday; Tuesday's "Information, Please" program; the Star Theater on Wednesday; Thursday's 6 o'clock Symphony Hour; "O Teacher" and "Professor Quiz" on Friday; and "What's My Name?" on Saturday.

PREFERENCE EXPRESSED

In addition to these, students expressed preference for numerous news broadcasts and news commentators, such as John B. Hughes, Raymond Gram Swing, and others.

An interesting observation, to San Joseans at least, is the fact that San Jose's radio station KQW devotes more hours than any of the major broadcasting companies to cultural programs, according to the mimeographed radio copies. A total of 23 hours is found for the local station.

Asked if they had used the mimeographed radio programs, 71 per cent of the students replied in the affirmative.

Social Service Committee In First Meet

The Social Service committee will hold its first social meeting of the quarter in the form of a pot-luck supper at the home of its chairman, Stella Knapp, tonight at 5:30.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Maxwell Crittenden of the SRA, who will speak on social welfare work.

Contributions of clothing and old chairs are wanted for the migrant camps by the Social Service group, according to Miss Knapp. The clothes are badly needed by the new people at the camps and the chairs will be used to equip the cabins in which WPA teachers will conduct adult classes for people in the centers, said the Social Service committee head.

Contributions should be brought to the 'Y' room.

All members are invited to attend the pot-luck supper tonight.

Entomology Club Visits UC Labs

Entomology club leaves this afternoon to visit the entomology laboratories of the University of California, President Ernestine Smith said yesterday.

Purpose of the trip, according to Dr. Carl Duncan, faculty adviser, is to secure explanation of general research programs and how they are carried out. The group will be shown several experiments now being carried on, among which is one on the transference of plant diseases by plant lice and other insects.
